

Presentation

The International Conference on Polymer Materials (ICPM'2022) will be held on June 29-30th 2022 at the House of science of University of Sciences and Technology Houari Boumediene (USTHB), Algiers (Algeria). This event is organized by the Polymer Materials Laboratory sited in the Chemistry Faculty of USTHB, and dedicated to honour Professor Said DJADOUN.

ICPM'2022 conference aims to distinguish progresses in Polymer Materials and provides a privileged forum for academic scientists, researchers and research scholars to exchange their experiences and the opportunity to learn and share research, and to meet and network with peers across the scientific community, and new technology implementation about all aspects concerning Polymer Materials. In addition, it would be one of the preeminent platforms for researchers to present their recent innovations and trends, explore further extension to their researches and discuss the practical challenges encountered in this field. It will be hosting the forum of plenary, keynotes, invited lectures, oral and posters presentations in the aspects of polymer Materials topics.

The themes addressed in this scientific event will cover the wholly fields in polymer materials research, including natural and/or synthesized ones, polymer blends, composites/nanocomposites, formulations, recycling, physico-chemical characterization, applications, and so on.

ICPM'2022 international meeting, which we plan to organize periodically in upcoming years, will be also an opportunity for concepts exchange between researchers from different universities and industrial companies, in order to allow thus a synergic links between theoretical and practical aspects to valorize the hottest technological and scientific advances, generating thus visibility for proper scientific cooperation, and exploring hence the growing impact of scientific research on the socio-economic world.

The conference organizing committee aims to bring together leading academic scientists, researchers and research scholars for presentation within the conference program for presentation, and strongly encourages industrial companies and establishments to present their products and equipment interrelated in this field.

Objectives

The International Conference on Polymer Materials ICPM'2022 is the opportunity to provide an exceptional meeting between national and international academics researchers, including industrial societies to discuss in term of the scientific and technological advancements associated with polymer materials, the difficulties encountered, and to elaborate the adequate keys for the major issues addressed during the conference.

This scientific event focuses as an alternative to:

- Promote and evaluate the scientific research in the field of polymer materials in Algeria compared to the international scientific community.
- Provide the opportunity to young researchers to present their contributions, and the opportunity for publication in special Journal Issue.
- Better understand and makes a suitable connection between the scientific community and the industrial companies.
- Bring together the scientific research and industrial concerns by involving the university in to the socio-economic environment.
- Develop partnerships and collaborations between participants and institutions via cooperative projects.
- Offer the opportunity for the socio-economic companies to expose their problems to academic researchers for suitable solutions.
